

magma13 Ray Technical and Care Information

magma13 Ray is a personal resonance device developed by SOLS, featuring the proprietary magma13 technology. The Ray amplifies a vitalizing Natural Ambient Energy field, which supports overall wellbeing and energizes the Bionomic environmental experience.

magma13 Ray functions through the energetic catalyzation of both natural and artificial electromagnetic fields, as well as electromagnetic interference from low to high frequencies, to create a powerful harmonizing effect. By creating a natural toroidal polarization, consisting of an absorbent and harmonization phase, the Ray creates a powerful effect for a maximum range of action of 100 cm above and below the Ray (vertically) and 50 cm out from the sides (horizontally) in each direction.

The Swiss made magma13 Ray is encapsulated in an elegant gold anodized aluminum metal absorption cell. Inside the 'metallic heart', a molecular mixture of biocatalytic elements is placed called magma13. The unique molecular structure of magma13 compound creates an adaptogenic effect, which supports humans to better regulate physiological processes, promote more efficient organization, as well as expands the capacity to handle physical, mental, chemical and biological stressors. This helps to enhance human adaptation, and allows for better resistance to stress, greater cellular regeneration and increased wellness benefits. To complete the engineering process, the technology is transferred to the Ojas laboratories Zürich, for the Ojas treatment which transfers to the product an additional level of stability, harmony and syntropic-coherent radiance.

Personal Resonance and Harmonization

magma13 Ray can be helpful in stimulating the natural healing cycle of the body through the harmonization of Natural Ambient Energy. The experience of Natural Ambient Energy has been shown to have significant human wellbeing benefits. magma13 creates a specific energetic macromolecule, which simulates and amplifies an energy field most similar to what one would find in nature. This restores a natural rhythm in the area of the Ray promoting overall wellbeing, as well as focused applications for the body. This positive and coherent balance of Natural Ambient Energy emits a subtle, yet powerful, palpable vibration and standing wave oriented through the hyper-coherent molecular structure of magma13. This can be seen as micro-honeycomb crystallization when looked at under a microscope, as well as felt when holding the device.

magma13 Ray is able to organically collect and dissipate congested energies within an area of the body. Due to a natural expansion and contraction of magma13 compound, a self-sustaining energy is created, which micro-adapts with the environment to ensure its self-cleansing properties, as well as long performance and durability. This makes the Ray especially helpful in areas of inflammation, fatigue, and pain within the body where the energy has become stagnant do to the improper or lack of flow of Natural Ambient Energy.

Enhance Energy

Your body needs to recharge, and magma13 Ray helps you connect to an unlimited source of natural energy. Through the day we become run down from the mental, emotional, chemical and physical stresses. For our bodies to function optimally, our bodies need from time-to-time rest and to be restored. Usually we do this with sleep, however in the modern world our sleep has become disturbed, and our attention is always being called up. Thanks to Ray, we have a true source of energy to 'plug into' and truly enhance our body's energy.

Water Energization

The human body is comprised of 70% water. In addition to energizing the water within our body's cells, magma13 Ray is effective at energizing the water we drink. It is also effective at adding greater coherence and resonance to our supplements and the remedies we take. The Ray helps to create a coherent energizing effect, with maximum vitalization and energization of water it is exposed to.

Portable Travel Device

magma13 Ray is highly portable and can be very useful as a bionomic tool for travel. The field created, from magma13 in the device, is a natural energetic resonance that increases environmental wellbeing. The application of the technology also helps to neutralize specific destructive environmental stressors, such as electromagnetic, geopathic and other harmful environmental radiations that you may experience while travelling. People with electro-sensitivity or electro-hypersensitivity can especially benefit from carrying the Ray wherever they go. The field sustained with magma13 Ray helps to mitigate and neutralize the effects of electropollution and electrosmog in the environment.

magma13 Ray is a completely safe tool that can be used by anyone without any problems or contraindications to use. It is suggested that children under 13 be supervised with the Ray, as it is potentially blunt metal instrument.

Using magma13 Ray

On the Body - Apply the Ray directly to the body in any area of congested energy or stagnation. Place the device where you feel an energy block or the need for more vitality. This may appear to you as inflammation, pain, discomfort or any specific awareness. The Ray can be applied to any external body part such as knee, ankle, back, shoulder, or any part of your body.

For focused application - Place the base of the Ray (the side with the 10 holes) directly in in the area of the body that we want to treat, with magma13 symbol facing away from you.

It is preferable to be touch with the surface of the area, but application can also be done through clothing. Leave the Ray in the specific spot for a minimum of 5-10 minutes or up to 30 minutes or longer. Apply up to 3 times per day, or as suggested by a qualified practitioner.

For general application, the Ray can be held on the body, carried with you or placed close to you in your environment. The ability to be able to benefit from the Ray is unlimited!

In the Environment or when Traveling - Its use is very simple. magma13 Ray can be carried with you wherever you go and does not require direct contact with the skin. Simply place the device in your pocket or purse, or place the device within half a meter of where you are sitting at work or home (especially when working on your computer), or when lying down next to your bed.

magma13 Ray: Technical Data and Care Information

magma13 Ray is an easily portable activator of free energy to treat the effects of electromagnetic entropy and perturbations, and to enhance Natural Ambient Energy (NAE).

The product, requires no power or batteries and will sustain its energetic state over long periods of time. If the unit has not used for a while, it is suggested to keep in the sun or full spectrum light for 60 minutes before using again.

Internal materials and bionomic specific design, work specifically on Energetic Bionomic disturbances related to wired and wireless electromagnetic stress, and other biologic disturbance by substantially disrupting and reharmonizing the specific disturbance.

The material is completely encapsulated in a pure aluminum cell in a natural resin bath with excellent stability, mechanical strength and heat dissipation characteristics. The encapsulation also makes the Ray free from dust and moisture. magma13 Ray is 100% safe and natural, and does not interfere with any electromagnetic or technological appliance or device, and does not produce any electromagnetic radiation or wi-fi signal.

magma13 Ray can easily be used in conjunction with other SOLS magma13 products. While magma13 Minitree (range of action 3.5 m) and magma13 Minitower (range of action 2.2 m), are specifically designed to affect the environment, the Ray has specific energy properties to support and enhance an individual's immediate energetic space. The combination of Ray with Minitree or/and Minitower, in a work station or in a sleep space, is completely synergistic and recommended for maximum protection and harmonization effect. For any specific needs, consult a SOLS technology advisor or a qualified Energetic Bionomics professional.
